

Effective hosting is a vital component for your business, however, hosting often raises many questions. At Blue Wren, we've simplified things to make sure you are getting the service that your business needs.

With over 20 years experience, we have tailored three levels of support to give you peace of mind. Whether you're a small business with a brochure site, or a multinational PLC, we have a package for you.

Amazon Web Services

We have partnered with AWS for all our hosting infrastructure. This gives you access to some of the most powerful computing power in the world along with a raft of value added services.

Dedicated Technical Support

We have a dedicated technical support department for all our hosting clients. Contactable via email and telephone provide specific and immediate support.

A Fully Managed Service

We take care of everything from setup, day to day management and server performance. This gives you total peace of mind, allowing you to focus on running your business.
